Metrixa Technology

Background

Metrixa Technology provides professional software development and IT solutions to industry leaders around the world. Metrixa is based in Australia and have a branch office based in Hanoi, Vietnam. The branch office in Hanoi was seeking for a surveillance solution which could do local recording while allowing Australia HQ to monitoring remotely with browser and mobile phone.

Solutions

In this project, GKB proposed its NVR10 for local recording at Metrixa Hanoi local PC. NVR10 is a free provided software installed on a Windows 7 based PC to record GKB Diplomat series network camera. In this case, GKB proposed GKB D3622TIR, a vandal proof, 1.3MP, IR network cameras with built in 8G micro SD card. Micro SD card recording is also implemented in this project in case of network failure causing the local NVR10 PC fails to record.

At the remote site (Internet environment), all of cameras are registered on GKB Cloud platform; therefore, remote users do not need to know IP camera DDNS or IP address to access. They can go to www.cloud-nvr.com to key in the user name and password to see all network cameras and SD card playback, as simple as one click.

Benefits

Using GKB solution is very economical. The free NVR10 network video recording software allows Metrixa facility to record 1.3MP IP cams up to 64 quantities although the first phase was less than it. However, the future expansion will not require additional software license and hardware investment.

Cloud based browser access through www.cloud-nvr.com provides easiest remote access to Metrixa Australia HQ. Administrators in HQ can key in user name and password to log in without memorizing each IP camera DDNS or IP address. GKB supplied iPhone and Android applications also have the theme as its Cloud based access, provides easiest access to mobile devices as well.
